

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP HABITAT

A Home for System Catalysts and Leaders

This is not work to be done alone.

We need a community of practice - a locally and globally connected network of support and shared intention.

GOALS

- Advancing personal effectiveness through communication and leadership skills
- Strengthening personal resources, resilience and agility to be with inner and outer intensities
- Sense of interconnectedness, support and community
- Deeper field awareness and its dynamics and patterns, including power and collective trauma-informed dynamics
- Connecting local purpose with global vision, informed by a living systems perspective
- Learning to deal with conflict and tensions differently
- Exploring future peer-learning and co-creation opportunities

Format: 6 month closed-group program, 2 x 2.5 days, 3 x 1:1 coaching sessions, virtual or local small groups, 6 virtual whole group meetings

Start: Fall 2018

Audience: Leaders and small teams, 10-20 people

Investment: 2200 € incl. VAT, excl. travel, food and accommodation

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP HABITAT

A safe space for capacity building and leadership development

"Where do we have spaces in our society today where the key players in our economic eco-systems can come together to see, sense and regenerate themselves? We are missing such spaces. We have lots of spaces for individual sense-making and strategizing but we don't have places for co-sensing, for uncovering common sense and common will."

- Otto Scharmer

A circle of leaders, learning from and with each other and offering mutual support; a base for you to be resourced, share knowledge and best practices, generate collective wisdom and insights, and celebrate what's already happening. These qualities are crucial for individuals to be able to contribute their uniqueness while being part of a larger whole that is greater than the sum of its parts.

A Program For Leaders

- who see their contribution as catalysts, bridgebuilders and healers
- who work with the system, rather than for the system.

Conscious and shared leadership is one of the most important resources when it comes to collective transformation and regeneration.

A movement of people is doing work on a systems level for fair and integral practices contributing to the wellbeing of people and the planet in diverse sectors, places and positions globally. Many however are still rather isolated, not well enough supported and resourced to host, navigate and deal with the intensity of engaging with this larger transformative change process.

This program is designed to create a peer-learning and training environment for leaders in their fields to:

- deepen global awareness and capacity for shared leadership
- train their living system sensing and thinking capacities
- align their personal and work context with global collective dynamics
- take leadership responsibility beyond individual organizational boundaries
- develop and strengthen shared practices and tools for working with the day to day while being aware of global (emerging) movements, needs and potentials
- encourage micro-collaborations and bridging fields of focus
- be strengthened by a sense of gratitude and appreciating the beauty of life

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP

During this shared journey we expand and sharpen our identity as being part of a global leadership field. Supported and resourced, we step more fully into the role of being global leaders, planetary catalysts who are not limited in their loyalty to a single organization or sector but expand their scope of responsibility to the entire spaceship earth and beyond.

OUR METHODS AND APPROACH:

- Systemic constellation
- Living systems and regenerative design
- New leadership paradigms
- Conflict resolution and reconciliation
- Dialogue and deep listening practices
- Deepening of our relationship to space, environment and place
- Learning to be with diversity, paradox and ambiguity
- Navigating complexity and emergence
- Dealing with trauma-informed contexts
